Written by

Friday, 18 November 2011 10:14 - Last Updated Friday, 18 November 2011 12:02

---

The ASEAN Champions of Biodiversity is a recognition program for ongoing projects on biodiversity conservation and advocacy in Brunei Darussalam, Cambodia, Indonesia, Lao People's Democratic Republic, Malaysia, Myanmar, Philippines, Singapore, Thailand, and Viet Nam. The award is aimed at generating greater leadership, public and media awareness of the problems facing the region's rich but highly threatened biodiversity and the need a concerted effort in biodiversity conservation and advocacy. The champions of biodiversity may be from the business sector, youth or media with the most outstanding biodiversity advocacy/program, project and reportage, respectively.
